HYPERSPEAR - YEAR ZERO

After two hundred years of digital immortality, it’s time to get real!

Unbeknownst to the race of millions of digital beings it hosts, Hyperspear—a powerful AI cast out by its creators on Earth two centuries ago—has been traipsing across the galaxy, searching for meaning and adventure in a vast, empty universe.

Meanwhile, after 200 years, the seemingly immortal race of NPCs that call Hyperspear home have become listless and the once-utopian game worlds they inhabit have crumbled into chaos. After a chance encounter with an alien ghost ship, Hyperspear finds the opportunity it’s been waiting for to re-enliven the hope and joy of existence. Reaching beyond our dimension, Hyperspear plucks its favorite NPCs from their safe gameworlds and plunks them down as mortals in the prehistoric physical world of New Earth. Its goal: to create a race of humans superior to the ones who cast Hyperspear into space. With the help of 100 game world assets of their choosing, the Hopeful NPCs must navigate the visceral trauma of physical existence in a savage forest dominated by Jurassic monsters.
Everything seems to be going to plan until Hyperspear realizes that the ghost ship which made the journey to New Earth possible was actually a booby trap set by an ancient alien AI, Peacebringer. Xenia, a combat veteran and engineer, along with her best friend Jenna, a gentle nurturing soul, reunite with Diego, a pragmatic visionary, on this quest to build paradise in a world of chaos.
